NO CANCELLATION
DICTATORS GET ACTION
ISHII WARNS US
WHAT WE READ

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1932 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. GARNER, speaker of the House, who may be nominated by the Democrats next week, announces publicly, what his friends already knew, that he favors repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. He voted against the amendment in congress, and has naturally not changed his mind, since the prohibition - bootleg-crime-racketeering-gangster wave started.

LAUSANNE reports that Mr. Gibson, representing the United States at the disarmament conference, where the United States has no business, has suggested to France that this nation will consent to a cancellation of its war debt, only if armaments are reduced. Politicians may suggest cancellation of the debts, but this nation will not consent. Whoever arrogates to himself the right to cancel foreign debts, with millions of Americans idle, and this nation confessing inability to pay the veterans' bonus, will show that he knows little about public opinion.

THERE is something in dictatorship. It gets things done. The Russians are on the way to finish their "five-year plan" in four years. Their dictator, named Stalin, is no imitation.

Mussolini has a five-year plan that includes rebuilding Rome, and connecting it with the sea by a ship canal. A great new harbor, to be built, will be named Port Mussolini. Mr. Punch of London, contemplating these five-year plans, sorrowfully observes that London has taken almost 10 years to make up its mind what to do about Waterloo bridge, to move it, or leave it where it is.

VISCOUNT ISHII, recently Japanese ambassador in Washington, welcoming our diplomatic representative, Mr. Grew, in Tokyo, warns the United States, politely, but firmly, to keep "hands off" in Asia. Viscount Ishii says only one of two things could start war between his country and this country.

"First, if Japan were foolish enough to interfere unduly in the western hemisphere.

"Second, if America attempted to dominate Asia."

HEAVEN knows, America is innocent of any dominating impulse. At the silly Washington conference, this country agreed not to fortify Guam, so conveniently located, or to establish adequate air bases in the Philippines. We are as mild as mush and milk.

It might enlighten some in Washington to read the memoirs of Von Bulow, formerly German imperial chancellor, especially the chapter dealing with his efforts to prevent war between Japan and Russia. "Japan," the Russians said "would never dare attack Russia." But Japan did dare, and Russia was badly beaten.

TODAY some of us will read about politics, some about Europe's debts, amounting to $10,000,000,000, $100 for every one of our unemployed, some will read about science, some about crime.

All, with few exceptions, will read about the Schmeling-Sharkey prize fight.

U. S. PROPOSAL ANNOUNCED AT GENEVA PARLEY

Five Broad and Drastic Principles Outlined
By President

POINTS TO HUGE
SAVING IN COSTS

French Announce They
Will Be Unable To Accept Plan

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 22.—President Hoover, in a sudden and dramatic announcement at the White House today, proposed principles for reducing the arms of the entire world by nearly one-third.

With Secretary Stimson at his side, the President read to a small group of newspapermen hurriedly assembled at the executive mansion a statement saying that "the time has come when we should cut through the brush," and adopt arms reducing calculated to save between $10,000,000,000 and $15,000,000,000 during the next ten years.

Proposes Five Principles

Five broad principles were laid down by the chief executive and upon this foundation he proposed among other things:

Abolition of all tanks, chemical warfare and large mobile guns.

Reductions of one-third in the strength of all land armies over and above the so-called police component.

The abolition of all bombing planes, and the "total prohibition of all bombardment from the air."

Reductions in the treaty number and tonnage of all battleships by one-third.

Reduction in the treaty tonnage of aircraft carriers, cruisers and submarines by one-fourth and of destroyers by one-third, with no nation having more than 35,000 tons of submarines.

2 ARE CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

East Liverpool Youths
Held As Aftermath
of Shooting

LISBON, June 22.—Burglary charges were filed here today by Sheriff W. J. Barlow against LeRoy Winger, 23, and Clifford Goodballet, 24, both of East Liverpool, as an aftermath of their alleged entrance into a garage in Fredericktown last Sunday night.

Ralph Miller, 23, of East Liverpool, was almost instantly killed when he was shot in the head and back while Goodballet sustained wounds in the back and left arm when T. H. Dailey, owner of the garage, surprised them and fired at them with a shotgun.

Denying that they burglarized Dailey's garage and claiming that they had been fishing at Beaver creek, near his home, Goodballet and Winger entered pleas of not guilty on arraignment before Justice M. K. Zimmerman in Lisbon this morning.

Zimmerman bound them over to the grand jury on $1,000 bond each, committing them to the county jail in default of bond.

Short Wave Club To Hear "W8CTZ"

Members of the Salem Amateur Short Wave Radio club will meet at the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. Thursday with a widely known Cleveland operator, known as W8CTZ, as the speaker.

Frank Stone, president, will be in charge of the meeting, which will also feature discussions of short wave radio problems and other radio activities.

A. H. Vaughn of the Electric furnace company spoke at the club's recent meeting, of which Robert Mathews and Robert Starbuck, members of the club, reported the designing of a new metal shielded low wave receiver and field strength indicator.

Ohioans Honored

ANDERSON, IND., June 22.—The Rev. C. E. Byers of Springfield, O., and the Rev. F. G. Smith of Akron, O., were named members of an executive council created by the Church of God, meeting here. The council will administer the church's business between the annual meetings.

Brains and Beauty

Beautiful but not so dumb just about sums up this American girl, who is one of Austria's foremost business women. She is Miss Nancy Vass-Wurmser, a beauty doctor in Vienna. Recent income tax returns revealed that Miss Wurmser is probably the richest foreign resident in Austria, though only in her early twenties. She commands a fee of 150 shillings (about $20) per consultation.

LIVE AND HELP LIVE, URGE OF FARM SPEAKER

State Bureau Aid Addresses 200 at Annual County Dinner

A new definition for "cooperation" was given by Carl C. Bair of Columbus, assistant state organizer for the Ohio State Farm bureau, who spoke to farmers of Columbiana county, and their wives, at the annual banquet of the Columbiana County Farm bureau Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church, using for his theme, "New Frontiers."

Bair defined cooperation as "That spirit that leads us to believe that everybody is more important than anybody, and that nobody is anybody except in his relation to everybody."

Ellis Satterthwaite, county chairman, presided and presented the speakers.

The program was interspersed with group singing led by J. E. Moore of Winona.

Hawaiian music was furnished by Messrs. Beck, Scott and Gray. Ralph Snyder of Salem sang two solos. He was accompanied by Mrs. Snyder.

C. J. Halverstadt, Leetonia, R. D. director on the State Farm bureau board, gave the invocation.

Approximately 200 were served at the dinner. The tables were prettily decorated with garden flowers. The favors were roses in various colors.

Bair pointed out that the old frontiers had to deal largely with material things, but that the new frontiers were confronted with a much more difficult task—that of deciding on essentials as relating to economic and social problems.

The evolution of the race, according to Bair, has been to kill and live; then live and let live, and finally, live and help live. The first

Wants Boston Gob To Fight In Reno

(By Associated Press)
RENO, Nev., June 22.—Willingness to guarantee $100,000 as a lure to Jack Sharkey for a heavyweight championship fight in Reno was expressed here today by Leonard Sacks, business manager for Jack Dempsey, former titleholder.

If he gets the opportunity, Sacks said he would match the new champion with the winner of the Fourth of July fight here between King Levinsky, Chicago and Max Baer, California. Dempsey would referee.

Both Baer and Levinsky admitted they would welcome the opportunity. Said Levinsky:

"Sharkey is a bum. I could lick him. I'll fight him for coffee and he looks like a big fish to me and I could wrap him up in an old newspaper."

Suspect Released

IRONTON, June 22.—Oscar Brammer of Chesapeake, O., was freed for lack of evidence in the deaths of Pete Davis, Happy Fielder and Robert Harmon, whose bodies were found in the Ohio river. Relatives claimed the men were killed by Ohio moonshiners.

COUNCIL CALLS SPECIAL MEET TO TALK COSTS

Will Discuss Plans to Reduce Municipal Expenditures

TRAFFIC LIGHT
SCHEDULE PARED

Signal Lamps In Outlying
Areas To Be Dark
At 10 P. M.

City officials and department heads will convene with members of city council in a special session at 8 p. m. Thursday to discuss plans for proposed further reductions in municipal expenditures.

The meeting was called by President of Council Charles D. Baker at the request of Councilman L. R. Cobb, chairman of the appropriations and finance committee, at council's meeting Tuesday night.

No action was taken concerning municipal fund reductions last night, Cobb reporting that "all details in the matter have not been worked out yet."

The meeting Thursday will follow a special session of the sewers and sewage disposal committee, headed by T. Vaughn Yates.

Curtail Light Schedule

Safety Director John R. Kerr was instructed by council members to order police to extinguish traffic lights in outlying areas of the city at 10 p. m. to further reduce expenses.

The signal lights at all intersections except those on South Broadway and East State st. in the downtown business area, will be turned off at this hour.

Suggestions for the repair of sidewalks in several sections of the city were made by councilmen who reported that complaints had been received on the condition of walks on North Lundy ave. Sharp, Wilson and West Second sts.

The sidewalk committee, with Councilman Cobb as chairman, was asked to conduct a survey.

Discuss Parking Limits

Cobb requested that council continue investigations into a request filed by the city's police force, asking that ordinances be passed providing for two-hour parking in the downtown district and restricting parking of vehicles altogether on North Ellsworth ave., between East State and East Second sts.

"It makes little difference if we have a one, two or five-hour limit in parking on East State and South Broadway," Cobb stated. "The motorists park as long as they like."

President Baker opposed the drafting of the ordinances, saying that, in his opinion, the city "now has more than enough traffic regulations and restrictions."

WOMAN IS SHOT; HUSBAND IS HELD

Canton Man Tells Police Wife's Wounds Were Self Inflicted

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, O., June 22.—Mrs. Leona Mary Singer, 46, died today in a hospital here from bullet wounds which her husband, Walter Singer, 44, said were self-inflicted following a domestic quarrel at their home early this morning. Police are holding Singer on a suspicion charge until Coroner T. C. McQuate completes his investigation of the case.

Police were called to the home shortly after the shooting occurred, by Singer. He met them at the door, saying that his wife had shot herself and was dying. She was rushed to the hospital and died one hour later. Mrs. Singer was unable to talk before she died but shook her head negatively when asked if she had shot herself.

Damascus Bible Class Has Picnic

The Women's Bible class of the Damascus Methodist church held a picnic recently at the home of Mrs. J. H. Cameron, south of Damascus. There were 25 in attendance. At noon a dinner was served on the lawn.

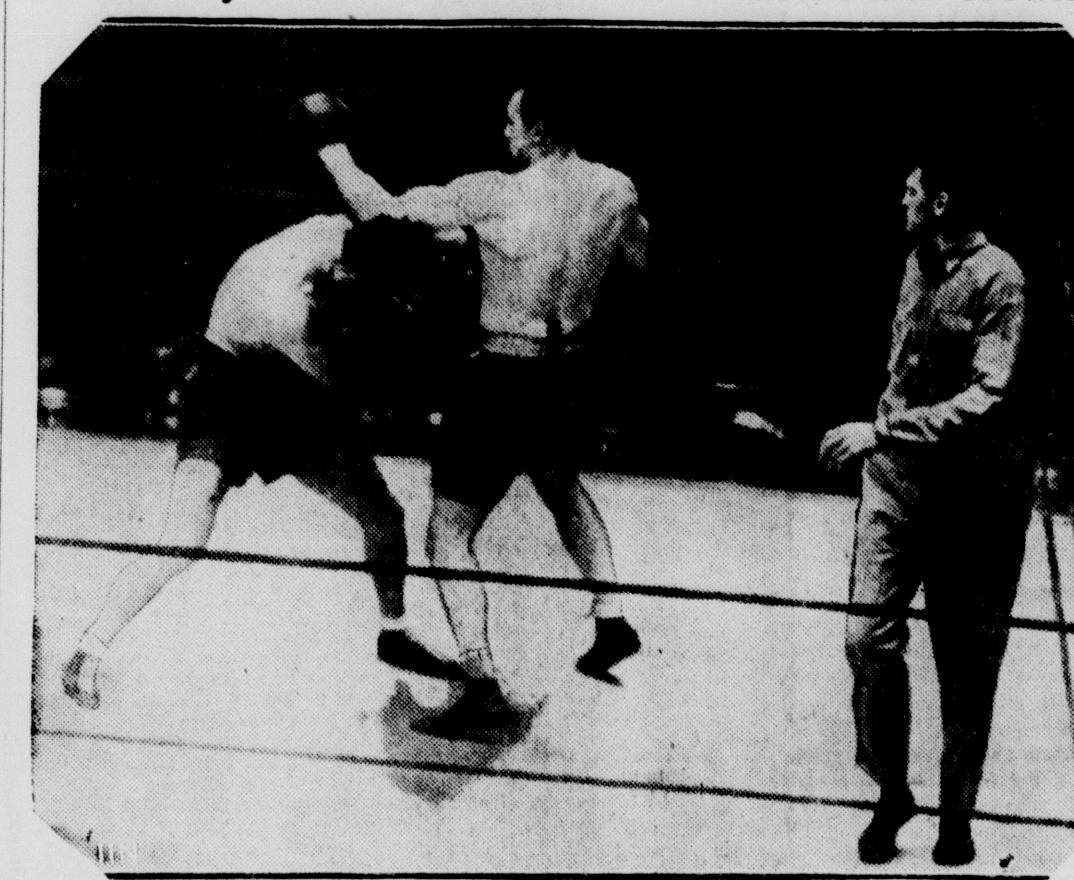

Mrs. Adda Gilbert and Mrs. Kittie McDonald of Salem and Miss Grace Walters of Damascus were guests.

Following the business session a social time was enjoyed.

Jury Frees Editor

SIDNEY, June 22.—Failing to agree, the jury in the criminal libel case of G. W. Fleming, editor of the Ohio Examiner, was dismissed last night. The trial resulted from an Examiner story concerning Mrs. Harry Stephenson, cook at the Shelby county home.

SMITH ARRIVES, DEMANDS REPEAL AND NOMINATION

Former N. York Governor
His Own First Choice
As Standard Bearer

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 22.—Renewed demands for a prohibition repeal submission plank came from Democratic chiefs today as they assembled on the convention scene for the preliminary maneuvers of the battle for the presidential nomination.

Alfred E. Smith, a leader of the fight against Franklin D. Roosevelt, demanded repeal of prohibition and immediate revision of the Volstead act.

He was his own favorite for the presidential nomination and expected to join in the fight to make J. P. Morgan, chairman of the convention.

On this fight will come the first test of the strength of the Roosevelt forces. They are supporting Senator Walsh of Montana for the post.

Senator Hull of Tennessee, prominently mentioned for chairman of the resolutions committee, said the consensus of wets and dries in the party favored submitting to the states the question of retention or repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Hull is dry and a Roosevelt supporter.

He declared, however, prohibition was subordinate to the economic issue.

Explains Method of Reopening Bank

Methods employed to reopen the Dollar Savings & Trust Co. bank in Youngstown, closed last October, were explained by Carl Ullman, executive vice president, in a talk before the Salem Rotary club Tuesday at Quaker Tea House.

Ullman said the depositors financed the reopening together with a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and that the bank is in a very sound condition today. Withdrawals were much less at the reopening than anticipated and within a few days they were very few. In fact, he said, deposits greatly exceeded withdrawals from the first.

Ullman, former secretary of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, was presented to the club by J. Clyde McKee.

In the behalf of the Rotary club, Walter L. Strain presented a gift to David Bevan, who left Tuesday night for Wales.

Growers Will Hear Expert On Gardens

E. R. Lancashire, of Columbus, specialist in vegetable gardening at Ohio State university, will speak at 6:30 tonight at a meeting of Salem people who were furnished garden seed by Salem chapter, Red Cross, last spring.

The meeting will be at the North Union ave. lots, back of East Third st.

Lancashire will give instructions relative to garden plagues. In case of rain the meeting will be at 7 at Memorial building.

All persons who received seed from the chapter are expected to attend. More than 250 notices of the meeting were sent out this morning by the chapter. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

Max Schmeling is shown as he dodges a hard right, aimed at him by Jack Sharkey as they opened their 15-round battle for the heavy- weight championship of the world in new Madison Square Garden, Long Island City, N. Y., before a crowd of 70,000 Tuesday night.

The fight was a result of the battle in which Sharkey, Boston ex-sailor, was awarded the decision over the 26-year-old German had who had held the championship since June, 1930.

The title was handed Sharkey by a vote of 2 to 1, one judge and a referee voting that the Bostonian won the fight while the second judge balloted in favor of the defending titleholder.

A widespread difference of opinion resulted from the verdict favoring Sharkey, the majority of newspapermen and other ringside observers giving unofficial decisions declaring Schmeling outpointed the Boston ex-gob.

Details of the fight are told in sport columns of The News, written by Alan Gould, sports editor of The Associated Press.

PIONEER AUTO BUILDER DIES

Alexander Winton Dies at Age of 72 At Home
In Cleveland

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—Alexander Winton, Sr., 72, generally known as the first commercial manufacturer of automobiles, died last night. He had been ill two weeks.

Long before the world ever dreamed the part automobiles were to play in modern life, Winton was building cars. His first automobile was running on the streets of this city as early as 1895.

By 1900, while the infant industry was still generally confined to one and two cylinder motors, Mr. Winton had built an eight-cylinder racing car, which he entered and drove that year in the James Gordon Bennett cup race in Ireland.

In those days, an automobile still looked like a demoniacal monster to many people, and Winton lost the race, he said later, because someone put candles in the gasoline tank to "keep away the devils."

Mr. Winton accumulated a large fortune in succeeding years, much of which he spent in wide and successful experiments for improvements.

Stepmother Jailed On Cruelty Charge

CHICAGO, June 22.—An 11-year old boy and a girl of 12 told in court a story of cruelty, starvation and inhuman treatment that sent their stepmother, Mrs. Jennie Pacer, to jail for a year.

The children, Clara and Edward Pacer, said they had been beaten with whips and fists by their stepmother almost daily for five years. Their only food, they said, was scraps from the table at which sat Mrs. Pacer's own five children.

Edward testified that Mrs. Pacer seared his tongue with a red hot butcher knife when hunger drove him to steal a bite of sausage from the kitchen. One of Clara's teeth was missing, knocked out she said, by a blow from her stepmother's fist.

Both children said they were forced to steal food for Mrs. Pacer and her children, that they were forced to sell beer which she brewed, and that Edward often was awakened in the night to be sent out to buy whiskey for her.

COUNTY GROUP FILES REQUEST FOR MORE FLOUR

Red Cross Chairman Asks
Three Carloads For Aid of Needy

A requisition has been filed by Melvin Goldsmith, chairman of the Columbiana county Red Cross chapter, with national Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C., for three carloads of wheat to be shipped to Lisbon for distribution among needy families in townships and villages of the county.

Asks 856 Barrels

Goldsmith's requisition called for a total of 856 barrels of flour. It was the second application for flour filed by the county unit, a first shipment of 109,000 pounds having been entirely distributed to families in Leetonia, East Palestine, Clarkson, Elkton, Gavers, Kensington, Hanoverton, Negley, New Waterford, West Point, Rogers and Millport.

These places, Goldsmith reported, will also share in the second shipment.

The requisition was filed with National Red Cross headquarters following a meeting of all welfare workers in the towns, villages and townships benefiting from the shipments.

Distribute Flour Here

Flour sent to Salem recently is still being distributed to families of the city and Perry and Butler townships. A second application will be filed in Washington as soon as the present supply is exhausted, welfare workers reported.

The supply, A. I. Getz announced today, is expected to last for 60 days, after which the second requisition will be filed.

MRS. BARCKHOFF, AGED 71, IS DEAD

Mother Of City Engineer Succumbs
At Home Here; Funeral
Service Friday

Mrs. Cora Barckhoff, 71, mother of City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff, died at her home, 181 East Second st., at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

A lingering illness of complications is given as the cause of death. Mrs. Barckhoff, resident of this city for many years, was the widow of Carl Barckhoff.

She is survived by two sons, Frederick S. and Henry, the latter residing in New York City.

Funeral service, in charge of Rev. A. C. Westphal, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Friday. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Postmaster Dies; Girl Driver Held

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, June 22.—Miss Charlotte Wunderlich of 215 Washington ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., was released on $1,000 bond today after a charge of reckless driving had been filed against her as the result of a traffic accident in which George H. Shauf, 62, postmaster of Massillon, received injuries which resulted in his death.

Miss Wunderlich, accompanied by her sister, Jean, was driving from Brooklyn to Redwing, Minn., to attend the funeral of a brother and her car struck the postmaster as he was crossing the street.

CHARGE BARLOW WITH PROFITS IN JAIL MEALS

Total of $5,953.31 Is Reported By State Accountants

ELMER E. WALKER
HELD FOR $7,805

Faces Liability For False
Bills Presented By Former Deputy

Findings for recovery totaling $13,758.31 were made against Sheriff William J. Barlow and former County Auditor Elmer E. Walker in a report filed with the state bureau of accounting today by State Examiners Hugh D. Hindman and A. H. Harlett.

The findings against Sheriff Barlow was for feeding prisoners, and totaled $5,953.31, while that against the former auditor was for $7,805 and represented $7,660 which the late Deputy Auditor Walter Korn is alleged to have obtained through presentation of false bills. The $145 remainder represented a transfer from the general fund to the auditor's assessment fund to make good the loss of that amount through a robbery.

Walker Held Liable

The report covered the period from July 29, 1927, to April 13, 1931. Korn is alleged to have made out and cashed false claims for damages growing out of road improvements. Former Auditor Walker is held liable for the entire amount.

Charge Profit on Meals

Sheriff Barlow is alleged to have profited to the extent of $5,953.31 in feeding prisoners up to Sept. 1, 1930, when the county commissioners allowed him a flat rate of 25 cents per meal, besides giving him $150 per month for cook hire. Since Sept. 1, 1930, the county commissioners have been paying the actual food bills themselves, the average cost of feeding a prisoner on that basis being 35 to 45 cents per day. The difference between this cost and the 75 cents per day previously allowed, the examiners figure, amounted to $5,953.31 and they claimed, represented profit to the sheriff.

The report, in full, returns 29 findings in favor of the county, totaling $14,629.98. There are 34 findings returned under a previous examination, totaling $15,163.98, reported unpaid.

In the major finding of $7,660 charged to former Auditor Walker, the report declares that former Deputy Korn cashed seven warrants for damage claims allowed and paid from the county treasury for property taken in the construction of roads

THE EXAMINERS' FINDINGS

The report of state examiners on county offices, made public today,
reveals findings for various amounts, in varied items, among which is one for $7,806 against Elmer Walker, former county
auditor.

While the figures are there and the amount involved is demanded
in payment to the county, the finding can not be taken as a mark of reproach against the personal record of the former auditor.

The fact of the matter is that a deputy in the office of former Auditor Walker is alleged to have presented false claims for damages
growing out of road improvements.
The death of the deputy makes it impossible, of course, to collect
from the source to which the money, according to the examiners'
report, went.

Therefore, although he had no
hand in the transaction, and obviously knew nothing of the defalcations, the former auditor is held liable because of the act of his aid.

The circumstances are unfortunate, but, in any event, can not be construed as damaging to the personal record, or the character of Elmer Walker.

NEW REPEALIST

Speaker John N. Garner, back at work after a sick spell, gives evidence that he, too, has been thinking about prohibition. Of all possible candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, he had the least definite record on national prohibition. During his long ob-scurely on the floor of the house
he stood on both sides at various times.

He now believes the 18th amendment should be repealed. He
"never believed it sound or workable," he explains. He voted against it when it was proposed.
Speaker Garner, in short, leaves
no, the slightest doubt where he stands, making a discreet announcement at the same time of his availability for the nomination.
By so doing, Mr. Garner clears the air in another quarter. The Texas and California Democrats
who will attend the convention
with his name in mind now know
where they stand. If their candidate only were able to clear the record of some of the unfortunate incidents of his first term with the house gavel and an unruly Democratic house they might be willing to stand there long after the balloting begins at Chicago.

IS IT A TRADE?

Every major military power in Europe, including Germany, is in a position to gain something if the United States decides to trade part of its huge war account to its former allies for their promise to disarm. French statesmen have been approached by American representatives with the first official suggestion that such a dicker may be a solution to the problem of the war debts. It is reported by responsible observers abroad.

War debt payments asked by the United States have been withheld
while debtor nations have been increasing the burden of armament cost borne by their taxpayers. Realization that Europe is preparing for another war and studiously
forgetting to pay for the last one is at the bottom of the public declaration against cancellation of debts held collectable by the United States. It is not enough to comprehend the difficult position
of nations cursed by a constant threat of war; Americans hold the fear which makes Europe carry its burden less important than the possibility that it might be lessened enlightened cooperation. This has been the stand of public opinion.
There are indications that it is to become the nation's official attitude, also.

As such, it will be questioned

sharply in its aspect of idealism.
Taxpayers, already in an angry
mood, will wonder why they should have to pay a bonus to Europe to make disarmament attractive. Why should not Europe pay a bonus to the United States if it does not disarm? Is the United States situated so favorably financially that it can afford to entertain proposals
of trading money borrowed from its people to its European neighbors
in an attempt to do something for which they have no apparent relish? The state department will need to overcome these broad objections, and they are only a few of the many that will be made.

It doesn't look like a good trade.
From the standpoint of idealism
there is much to commend it, but trading isn't carried on from that standpoint. The war debts are hard reality, in terms of billions of dollars; so are the death-dealing devices which Europe is amassing for its next slaughter.

ZERO HOUR DRAWS NEAR

In different sections of the nation are 10 outstandingly important Democrats, each of whom would like very much to be president of the United States. They are, in a sequence which comes easily to hand, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred
E. Smith, Newton D. Baker, Albert
C. Ritchie, John N. Garner, George
White, William H. Murray, Melvin
A. Traylor, Harry E. Byrd and J.
Hamilton Lewis—all handsome and all equipped with a tell-tale firmness of expression that explains
why they are potential presidential timber.

In Chicago, where the convention
which finally will nominate one of these men to run against President Hoover is to open next week,
tacticians, statisticians and electricians are at work plotting moves,
assembling the dope and preparing in many ways for what may be one of the bitterest Democratic conventions ever held—a prediction
with a real punch to it. Democrats never leave the arena, as Republicans did last week, unbruised and unruffled. That's not their way.
Even their enthusiasm is compounded of violence.

As the zero hour draws near the political atmosphere is vibrant with warning of impending trouble—the kind of warning that acts on the true politician like smoke on a fire horse. If there is one thing
more than another that is characteristic of the Democratic attitude
this year it is an anxious willingness to be up and at all things that threaten to hold back the party.
Republicans already have put on their act. It was tame, even for a curtain raiser. Now for the feature presentation of this political year—10 (count them) presidential candidates in a battle royal, with prohibition, unemployment, relief,
tariff and many other added attractions. There will be trouble,
but there will be excitement enough
to season it for the most fastidious.
"Politics as is politics" is about to be explained and demonstrated by the Democrats—at some length, in all probability. They are assured
in advance of an interested audience.

ECLIPSE FAMILIES

When a total eclipse of the sun
is announced, like that on Aug. 31
of this year, we may be sure that it has had a long line of predecessors. Eclipses, like royalty, are members of families, only their families last longer than earthly dynasties. In fact, this eclipse dynasty was founded in 1623, and will die out in 2365, after an existence of 1344 years. But not even so is its royal line utterly extinguished,
for 13,020 years later—a short
time in the history of the solar system—it will enter upon another cycle of existence.

An eclipse does not just leap into being out of nowhere and then disappear. It has its centuries of evolution, which involve growth
and decay. But it has also what the ancient philosophers fancied
that men might have, a reincarnation, a chance to live its life over again, though after a long bath in oblivion.

Thus the solar eclipse of 1932 began as a slight partial eclipse near
the south pole on Feb. 23, 1931.
Every eighteen years and ten and a half days, thereafter, the same eclipse has come back, always a little farther north, and a little fuller, until, after 180 years, the eclipse became total. Ever since then a total eclipse has occurred
after eighteen years and ten and a half days; for instance, in modern times in 1842, 1859, 1878, 1896, 1914,
and the same interval—called the
saros—will bring it back this year.

But it is near the end of its course.
For it will be total only three times more—in 1959, 1978 and 1996. It has already moved north into Northern Canada, and it will finally slide off the earth's surface near the North Pole. Thus, in the language of human history, we are witnessing its "Decline and Fall."
Some now living will look upon its last triumphant appearance upon
the celestial stage until—measuring time by the astronomical clock
—the splendid summer star Vega
shall have become our pole star.

An eclipse may start at the South Pole or the North Pole, but it always belongs to such a family.
Most of those that we now see have long pedigrees. When we behold one, we have a right to "look before and after," think of those who beheld it in days long past,
and also try to picture the changed
world out of which our distant kindred will look up to it ages hence.
Providence Journal.

NEW YORK, June 22—New York
hotels are little hope of an upshoot
in receipts until Winter at least.
Summer always brings the lowest ebb, but right now there is almost complete stagnation. Nearly every hotel bond issue is in default. One great inn is reputed to have 18
floors closed.

The seasonal migrations from the
outlands thinned to a handful.
European arrivals were scantiest
since the war. As a result, some of the biggest bargains since the days of the old Astor House. Suites notched at $30 a day went begging
in some instances as low as $8.

The theory is naturally advanced
that from a hotel standpoint
the city is alarmingly overbuilt.
Yet in normal times all were doing a splendid business and as no
hotels have been built since the depression, it is believed the first show of prosperity will swamp
them.

Thousands have been deferring
visits to New York until skies clear and a stampede is expected at that time. Many employees are working
two days a week to give the jobless
a chance. A number of hotels include breakfast in the room rate.
One makes no laundry charges.

My father spent a lifetime running a $2-a-day country hotel on the American plan. There were 32
rooms and the "sample room,"
where drummers displayed wares.
Waitresses were imported from Kansas City at $3 a week and board. The biggest spur of business was "during county court"
when the overflow was taken care
of in hammocks on a verandah.

In one of the wide places in an Ohio road where I once made a temporary stay the proprietor of the local hotel told me he refused to harbor "show folks." He expressed his objection inelegantly
with: "They louse up the beddin'."

I regret an increasing lack of interest in the output of fellow columnists. Once I read them all avidly but now seldom unless attention has been called to some especial brilliancy. Doubtless they make me dispiritedly self-conscious.

—a feeling they have done the job
so much better. So long as I read only my own I can kid myself I am quite a card.

In the actual heat of writing, every columnist has a secret notion
he is the McCoy. The cooling process comes when he sees it in print.
The edge that suggested cutting floating silk becomes as blunt as the Empire's silvered spire.

The best columns are generally turned out in haste. A mad scramble to catch a boat or attend a dinner party often spawns the richly unpredictable and vividly
improbable, whereas long planning results in a piece awkwardly labored. H. G. Wells summed it up with: "Writing is 90 per cent spontaneity."

To this day there is occasional reference to Anna Held's "milk
bath" to preserve her complexion.
Miss Held as late as 1910 laughingly denied the story at a tea I attended in her rue St. Honore apartment in Paris. The whole thing was the inspiration of a press
agent who rigged a milkman to file
a fake suit of non-payment of gallons of bath milk. Similarly Lillian Russell never, of course, took a champagne bath—another absurdity of a wine agent's arrant
felicity.

The wine agent—"Count" George
Kessler—used to furnish Miss Russell free cases of wine as he did other stars of the day and jokingly suggested to a Sunday feature writer that the actress, bathed in it.
The tale swept the world.

Even reporters received gifts of cases of wine in those days from Manny Chapelle, Maurice Levy and others of the Broadway champagne salesmen. The trouble was that most of us were attuned to beer appetites and wine meant nothing. It was given away. To drink it marked the sissie.

In a Waldorf elevator last evening I rode 25 stories with a woman passenger, extremely décolleté and monocled. At the street level a quick top unlatched the glass in a plink at my feet. And I was so confused, after restoring it, that I walked off sort of side-wise, idiotic-
ally dusting off my hands.

Feel Lazy? Have Eyes Tested

Not long after reaching the age
of 40 the average person will need glasses for reading. Sometimes headaches at that period, although this is not recognized, are
due to eyestrain. It is strange, too,
that the average person
overlooks the necessity of changing the lenses pretty
regularly.

There is a remarkably
steady change
in the power of vision. Give me certain facts as to the
eyesight and the strength of the glasses worn for reading and I can tell very accurately the age of the person. The progress of presbyopia, aging vision, runs parallel to the line of birthdays.

By the way, you'd better go to see the friend who fits your glasses
and as an excuse for the visit consult him about what I am telling
you. While there, suggest that he look over your eyes and see if your old, thick, heavy lenses, when glasses are all right.

Lots of times persons, young and
really all they need is new glasses.
Bear this in mind.

While headache, heavy feeling,
dizziness and disinclination to work are commonly symptoms of some trouble with the digestion, it isn't always so. Eyestrain, due to lack of glasses or to badly fitting glasses, may account for the uncomfortable symptoms.

Here is another suggestion.
Perhaps the frames of your glasses
are bent, so that the lenses are not placed in front of your eyes
as they should be. This puts the lenses "out of focus," changing the relation of the curve of the glasses
to the eyes, so that actually an artificial form of eyestrain is produced.

It is a good thing to have the spectacle frames adjusted now and then. To do so will spare you a lot

DR. COPELAND

of unnecessary annoyance and real discomfort.

The Need for Glasses

We get tired of wearing the same frames, and it is a good thing to have several pairs of glasses if you can afford it. Have a pair of spectacles or two, also a pair of nose glasses. You will be surprised what a relief there is in changing frames.

You can have such ill feelings
from the need of glasses or from wrongly fitted glasses that you can easily imagine yourself sick;
and it is just as bad to think you
are sick as to be sick isn't it?

Nobody can be efficient in work
or be happy if suffering from eyestrain. It is silly to go about just half your real self when a test of the eyes reveal the real person.
By getting the needed glasses you will be good as new.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, June 23

A very interesting and eventful
day is presaged from the important chain of planetary configurations.
There is sign of advancement, profession and promotion, with much
personal gratification and happiness, possibly arising suddenly and from unseen sources.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of many gratifying experiences and associations,
with promotion, favors or preferment from those in good position. It would be well to be on guard against treachery or subtlety with mergers or secret bodies. A child born on this day should be gifted and accomplished in cultural graces and social prestige, despite a tendency
to hasty, impulsive indulgences.
They should be disciplined in intensity.

Local dealers stated Saturday

that while the strawberry crop has been plentiful this year, the season
is nearly over, and that it is expected that the price, which reached eight cents the latter part of the week, will soon be raised again, owing to a shortage. Cherries are very plentiful, especially the sour variety, which sells for $2 a bushel.

Kenneth Cruikshank, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Alex Cruikshank, entertained a group of boys Saturday
to celebrate his tenth birthday anniversary.

Solbert Greenberger entertained
a group of boys Thursday evening
at a dinner at his home, Garfield
ave. Solbert will leave next Wednesday for Culver, Ind., to attend
the summer term at Culver Military academy.

they're not strong or heavy.Early in the day or late at night you'll find that Chesterfields are always pleasing. They are mild and yet they satisfy.What's more they taste better, too. That's it... milder and better taste. These are the two out-

CHARGE BARLOW WITH PROFITS

Total of $5,953.31 Is Reported By State Accountants

In 1930 registration of dogs brought the county a return of $7,439.50, while in 1931 the return was $6,218.

Cigarette tax settlement fees reported in the auditor's office for 1930 total $14,936.13 and for 1931 the settlement was $13,782.76.

Verification of records in the auditor's office with those of the treasurer's office show the 1929-1930 tax settlement amounted to $2,850,637.80, of which $16,965.80 was delinquent personal tax calculations for previous years.

In 1930 there was collected from the sale of automobile licenses a total of $149,703.41, while for 1931 the collection was $149,290.68. In the former year, 21,755 tags were sold and for the latter period, 21,460 license plates were distributed in the county.

No fault was found with the activities of the office of the county commissioners, according to the report, although some suggestions were made as to sale of bonds.

Record Outstanding Warrants

Four and one-half pages of record of outstanding warrants from the office of the clerk of courts have been listed in this report, one of these checks dating back to 1925. These open items total $10,412.42. These checks have been issued by the clerk of courts and have never been cashed.

Dockets in the office of the clerk of courts, sheriff and probate judge disclose many costs which have not been paid. The report suggests that the office of the prosecuting attorney do all in its power to enforce the collection of the amounts due "for the benefit of the county treasury."

"In general," the report adds, "it was found that the prosecutor has attended to his various duties provided, by law, and outside of the above suggestion, everything was satisfactory."

Concerning the office of sheriff, the report reads: "So far as the records and files disclose, the laws pertaining to this office have been properly administered, the records and files neatly and accurately kept and all public funds correctly accounted for."

Open cash items for this office amount to $8,998.35 the oldest referring to case No. 13,161, as listed in the office of the clerk of courts, whereas as of this date cases have soared to more than 25,000.

Urges Laundry Plan

The report shows no errors in the quarterly reports of the sheriff concerning the washing of clothing for prisoners, the report makes the suggestion that instead of paying 25 cents a week per prisoner for such washing, the "commissioners and sheriff must arrive at some definite price per piece washed, just as is done in laundries."

A finding has been made against Sheriff W. J. Barlow for $5,953.31 for excess in cost of feeding prisoners from July, 1929, up to and including August, 1930. From Sept. 1, 1930, the report shows the county has been paying all food bills direct and has been reimbursing the parties who actually do the preparing of the food. It also shows that no money is being paid the sheriff for the board and care of prisoners. Under this method, the report goes on, it is found that the present cost runs between 35 and 45 cents per day of three meals each.

Under the examination of the office of sheriff, reference is made to a former finding against former sheriff George Wright for $6,677.10 owing the county for board bills, and that of Sheriff Barlow for $2,587.74. It is also recorded that the City of East Palestine owes the county $156.72 for the keep of prisoners in the county jail, who were sentenced for violation of ordinances, while the City of Wellsville is owing the county $1,734.66 for the same reason. The City of East Liverpool owes the county $1,927.95 for the same cause.

A routine report is made on an examination of the office of County Recorder Edith Elliott, but the report discloses there is still being carried a cash item of $23.66 as a surplus, inherited from a former administration of this office. This surplus is attributed to the occasional receipt of stamp money paid in by persons requesting instruments to be mailed them.

Surveyor's Work Lauded
The report on the office of county surveyor was brief. It lauded Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk and George C. Porter, who had charge of the general office work, for their methods of record keeping. All public funds handled by this office have been correctly accounted for, the report says.

Concerning the examination of the records of the Columbiana County Agricultural society, Examiner Harlett says that, "it seems strange that outside police have to be hired when there are plenty of local men, just as capable, who would be glad to serve. Mr. Marsden stated that the receipts increased over $500 due to the services of the outside police. This may be true, as local police may not command the respect that uniformed officers would.

"Even though the local people may not be as satisfactory as police, it is suggested that they be hired in the future, as they are the tax payers who really are making the fair possible. It does not seem just to ask them to help support the fair and then hire outsiders to take the jobs that they would be glad to have. This especially applies to the present time, when many of the local people are badly in need of work."

It is also shown in this examination that the fair board paid J. Clay Folger of Cleveland $413.12 for police service during the 1930 fair, and $283.59 for furnishing police service during the 1931 fair. In addition to these expenses, the report shows various amounts were paid for lodging and meals, and also transportation expenses to and from Cleveland.

Coroner E. R. Sturgis has not filed with the county commissioners a report of the fees he has received during the last two years, although Examiner Harlett points out such reports should be filed annually and on the first Monday in September. The report calls attention to excessive fees for mileage, and also that the coroner cannot follow a body into another county and there hold an inquest.

Barlow Makes Statement

"During the months I was paid at the rate of 25 cents a meal for feeding prisoners at the county jail," Sheriff W. J. Barlow declared in a statement today. "I followed the exact text of a resolution framed by Milton Campbell of Canton, state examiner, and filed with the county commissioners. Mr. Campbell first wrote this text in long hand, and then it was typewritten. This text shows, as prepared by Mr. Campbell, that the cost of preparing, cooking and serving of such meals shall be and is hereby considered a part of keeping and feeding of such prisoners in the sheriff's charge, but such cost or expense or preparing, cooking and serving shall be determined by the difference between the actual cost of the food purchased by the sheriff and the 75 cents a day allowance of three meals actually served."

"Further: be it resolved that the sheriff shall be allowed for preparing, feeding and keeping prisoners or other persons in his charge, the sum not to exceed 75 cents a day, said day to consist of three meals. Upon bills properly itemized, such bills or accounts shall be presented monthly on or about the 5th day of the month next succeeding."

Sheriff Barlow declared that this meant he was to receive not more than 25 cents a meal actually served.

Finds Youths In Orchard, Kills One

(By Associated Press)

LORAIN, O. June 22.—One youth was killed and four others wounded last night when the owner of a cherry orchard here allegedly caught them stealing fruit and shot them.

John Wisniewski, 23, died with a slug in his heart. Addie Dominski, 20, received a serious wound in his abdomen. The others, less seriously wounded, were identified as Joe Turowski, 17, Joe Misnieczak, 20, and S. Skirek, 17.

The owner of the orchard, Frank Smathers, 59, gave himself up to police, saying he fired with the intention only of scaring the intruders.

Mayor Calls Bluff Of Three Bandits

CHICAGO, June 22.—The fighting mayor of suburban Chicago Heights called the leaden bluff of three bandits on a deserted highway early today and disregarding personal danger shot one of them to death and forced the others to flee.

The mayor, George A. Hahn, was enroute home with Mrs. Court Kraemer, when the bandit car pulled up alongside his auto and commanded him to stop.

He refused, and advising Mrs. Kraemer to "lay low," stepped on the accelerator. The hold up men fired four bullets narrowly missing him. Undaunted, he returned the fire and saw one of the men fall to the pavement. The others fled.

While Mayor Hahn hastened to summon police reinforcements for a chase, Herman Scozzia, driver of a bullet pierced car called at St. James hospital with the body of Dominick Guzzino, 22, of Chicago Heights. Scozzia denied any complicity in the attempted holdup.

Police authorized the men who fled returned after Mayor Hahn's departure from the scene and picked up the body of their companion.

WEAVER-WEST

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Catherine Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Weaver, Alliance, to Paul Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William West of Damascus.

They were married recently in the Methodist church at Laurel, Md. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry Crutchley.

The bride wore a dress of white mink and a turban of white lace. She carried a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Sharkey Awarded Title In Unpopular Decision Over Schmeling

THE DAY IN SPORTS

EXPERTS RAZZ VERDICT
LAUD MAX SCHMELING

Metropolitan Newspaper critics disputed today the 2 to 1 vote that gave Jack Sharkey the decision over Max Schmeling.

"It has been the legend," said W. O. McGeehan of the Herald-Tribune, "that a foreign fighter could not get a square deal in the United States, especially in New York. Up to this time I felt that this merely was a legend, but that decision given last night was the worst I have ever seen in peering intently at these things for a quarter of a century or more."

Paul Gallico of The News said: "Schmeling's steady pursuit, the stinging left and right and his fighting finish were enough to give him the fight."

Damon Runyon of The American said: "Personally I gave Schmeling quite a lead in my score of the rounds and was surprised at the decision."

James P. Dawson of The Times said: "I gave Schmeling nine rounds, Sharkey five and one even, Schmeling won. In this writer's opinion, because of a tireless, persistent, unswerving offense, he launched at the opening bell and never once interrupted even in the face of Sharkey's best blow."

Francis Wallace of The News said: "The worst Schmeling should have had was a draw—and that was not enough to take his championship away."

Richards Vidmer of The Herald Tribune said: "No longer can the foreign sailor complain about the breaks, for last night he got perhaps the biggest break a challenger for the heavyweight championship ever received."

THE EFFECT of this unfortunate decision is bound to be world wide. The Olympic games, scheduled at Los Angeles soon, will get under way with foreign contestants feeling greatly the judgment of American officials. Germany and England, leaders in frequent attacks on Uncle Sam's sportsmanship, will be especially skeptical.

The decisions that Herr Max Schmeling decisively defeated Sharkey were so unanimous among newspapermen and other ringside experts that the National Boxing Association and New York's boxing commission, to a large degree responsible for the situation which exists today, should take immediate action to sift the matter to the bottom, if for no other reason than to eliminate rumors that the battle was "fixed."

Many experts are declaring that Sharkey has gone backwards, that he was not as good last night as he was two years ago when he outclassed Schmeling completely for three rounds then lost the fight on a foul blow. They forget that the German had displayed great ability was a much improved battler, and that it was not the ex-pro's deterioration as a pugilist but more Maxie's great improvement.

For many months Michael Carey, 89, of Denver, Colo., had looked forward to the Sharkey-Schmeling championship fight. Sharkey was his favorite.

He heard the round-by-round description of the bout. Near the end of the fourteenth round, Carey got up from his chair and exclaimed: "Sharkey's lost." Then he slumped to the floor.

He was dead of heart disease when a doctor arrived.

Your own correspondent, an ardent Sharkey supporter even when the Bostonian was the butt of ridicule and criticism directed at him following previous bouts, gave up the fight in the twelfth round. Graphic ringside descriptions of the battle by Graham McNamee and Charles Francis Cox clearly indicated the German as the winner.

Salem's German-speaking element was up in arms, so to speak, in protest. You can easily figure for yourself what the natives of Berlin, discussing the battle over steins of foaming beer in the Berlin and Hamburg beer gardens today, are saying.

New Fistic Champion Crowned But Experts Declare German Won

BY ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 22—Jack Sharkey's victory over Max Schmeling for the world heavyweight championship today was greeted as the crowning touch to one of the ring's strangest careers.

"Break" For Sharkey

The decision in the Boston sailor's favor, after 15 somewhat monotonous rounds, was as sudden a "break" of fortune for him as have been the frustrations previously in his erratic course through the heavyweight ranks over a six-year period.

Sharkey Unimpressive

The Sharkey who walked out of the ring with the world title finally, on a 2 to 1 verdict of the officials, was not the convincing fighter of the nights he whipped Harry Wills, knocked out Jimmy Maloney and floored big Primo Carnera. He looked more like the careless fell ow who had wasted chances, by his lack of aggressiveness, against Heeney and Dempsey.

Sharkey

Sharkey at no time showed punching superlative and spirited drive that had given him an overwhelming margin over Schmeling two years ago up to the time the big sailor swung low and fouled out. He looked like the complete master of Schmeling, in 1930.

Last night he seemed to be biding his time, trusting to luck. To most everybody's surprise, he suddenly found it with him as the clear Irish voice of Joe Humphries proclaimed him "the winner, and new champion."

Dipsters Favor Max

There was nothing more than a vocal rebuttal to the verdict which went to Sharkey on the vote of Referee "Gunboat" Smith, himself an old-time heavyweight, but it was the loudest that has been heard in many a moon in the working press section. The experts were at least six to one in their conviction that Schmeling had won and that by no stretch of the imagination could the German have been given worse than a draw.

Only once before has the heavyweight crown changed hands on a decision and never on a divided verdict. Gene Tunney captured the crown on points from Jack Dempsey in the rain at Philadelphia in 1926, but there was no argument as to the winner there.

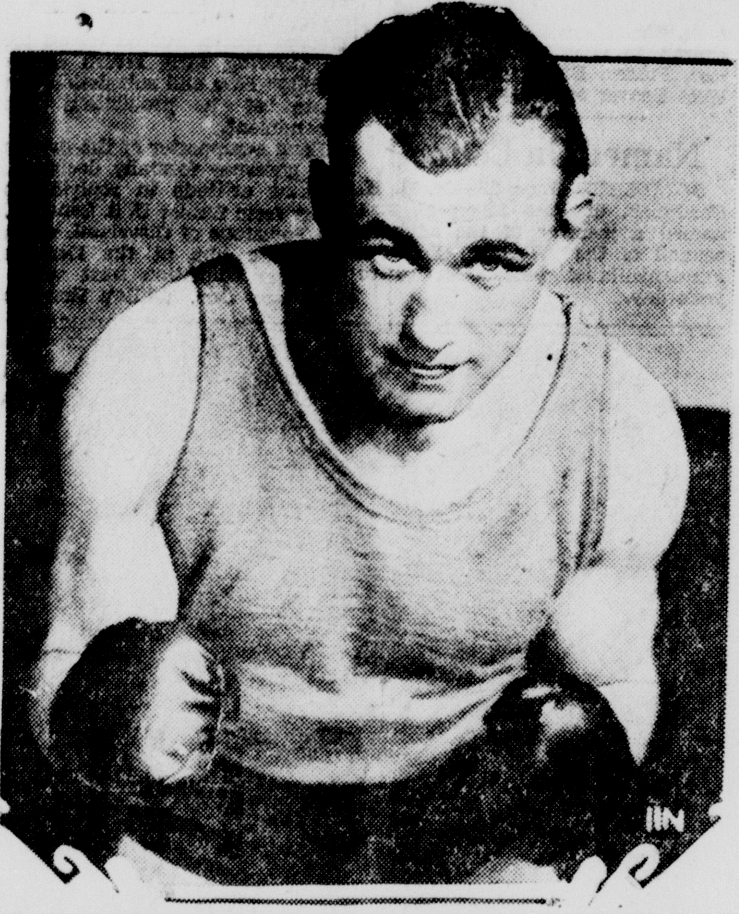

From the time of John L. Sullivan, it has been an unwritten law of the ring that the champion receives the benefit of the doubt; in other words, that a world title should change hands only when there is small chance for dispute. Schmeling didn't receive any such benefit last night, despite his stronger, more effective finish.

Need Third Battle

Sharkey is the eleventh acknowledged world champion in the 40 years since Sullivan swaggered above them all. For at least four years, since Tunney's retirement, he has been a potential champion in a division that has been filled with disputed developments. He has the chance now to settle down and prove he belongs at the top, but it will take a third or "rubber" contest to convince the critics he is Schmeling's master.

This may not be a bad business partnership at that, inasmuch as the first two Sharkey-Schmeling bouts, in somewhat difficult times, have surprised everyone by grossing close to $1,250,000 together.

Sharkey Realizes Ambition Of Life in Winning Title

But Doubt and Skepticism Hover Over Manner In Which Bostonian Was Awarded Championship; May Face Schmeling In Third Bout

The mystery man of heavyweight boxing, Josef Cuckosky, born of Lithuanian parents on October 2, 1902, to provide the world's sport fan with one of the greatest human enigmas in fight history, has achieved his life's ambition.

Sharkey, known to the world as Jack Sharkey, is the new world heavyweight champion.

Finally Fulfills Promise

After six years in which Sharkey continually was recognized as an outstanding contender for titular laurels, he has finally fulfilled the promise he has always shown. Always, in the past, when his career seemed to be destined to be crowned with success, had Sharkey fallen down.

Today his unpopular decision vicelorded over Max Schmeling, former champion who won the title on a foul two years ago in Chicago, heralds Sharkey as the king of heavyweights but by no means offers conclusive testimony that the former sailor of Uncle Sam's navy is the best heavyweight in the world.

Sharkey's future in the fight game now offers to fans another puzzle. He has the desire to retire, to emulate James Joseph Tunney, for no man, with the exception of William Harrison Dempsey, has excelled from the fight racket, the money which Sharkey has stored away.

A family man, happily married and the father of three youngsters, Sharkey has never evinced any liking for the cauliflower racket.

He himself was surprised when judges awarded him the decision and may adhere to wishes of fans that he battle Max for a third time. Sharkey came out of the Navy with an honorable discharge in 1924. In 13 of his bouts—and he has had a total of 45—he has drawn $3,510,000 in at the gate. His biggest haul was in his bout against Dempsey, which drew $1,083,000.

The smallest purse which he shared among his 13 big bouts was $42,000 when he fought George Huffman.

Four Knockouts in Year

Sharkey started on his professional career impressively enough with four knockouts, three decisions and two draws in his first year. The next year he won seven fights, but the record was marred by a defeat by Charley Weinert.

This brought him into the campaign of 1925, when he reached a position of prominence, mainly through a ten-round decision over George Godfrey and by winning from Harry Wills. He fought nine times that year and didn't lose a bout.

Through those first three years Sharkey waged an active campaign, taking part in 29 bouts, but since then he has been far less active, fighting only 15 times in the last five years, an average of three battles every 12 months.

Kayoes McTigue, Maloney By knocking out Mike McTigue in 12 rounds and Jim Maloney in five, he fought his way to the verge of a championship bout with Gene Tunney in 1927, but flunked at the finish, claiming a foul against Jack Dempsey and being knocked out in the seventh round while making his protest.

The next year he regained some prestige by knocking out Leo Gates and Jack Delaney, but he fought a listless draw, with Tom Heeney and lost to Johnny Risko in 15 rounds. Hence, instead of Sharkey, got the final shot at Gene Tunney's title.

Through 1929 he fought his way back again, beating K. O. Christner and Young Stribling, though not impressively, and knocking out Tommy Loughran in three rounds. When he knocked out Phil Scott in three heats in 1930 he again was in line for a title bout and he got it. He was matched with Max Schmeling, with the understanding that the winner would be accepted as Tunney's successor.

Loses On Foul Through three rounds Sharkey was winning and then in the fourth he once more undid all his previous work. He fouled Schmeling into the championship. Last year he staged one more comeback outpointing Mickey Walker, and decisively beating Primo Carnera.

Sharkey's has been a career of ups and downs, against a background of boasts. He always has said he was good and when he lost he always has had a ready excuse. Yet the critics who have seen him in his good fights always are looking for the great battle they believe is in him.

They are still looking.

SOFTBALL BOARD MEETS FRIDAY; PLAN SCHEDULE

Details for Second Round To Be Fixed; Studios Cigars Triumph

The city league board of arbitration will meet with team managers at the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. Friday for the arrangement of the schedule for the second round of play in the municipal circuit.

But three games, two tonight and one Friday, remain in the first round. The United Cigars have clinched the championship.

The Cigars pulled through with another victory yesterday, outclassing the Greenies Tires, 9-1. Miller allowed the losers but two hits.

The Cox Studios pulled a surprise when they handed the Brown Pennzips, a 7-6 setback yesterday.

Scores Referee

JOE JACOBS
MR. OF SCHMELING

In the excitement of his warriors losing the heavyweight championship, Joe Jacobs charged that there had been a deliberate plot hatching for the past month to rob Max Schmeling of the title.

"A couple of weeks ago," he charged as he stormed in Schmeling's dressing room, "I told newspapermen and it was printed that I would not allow Schmeling to leave his dressing room if a 'certain referee' was named to officiate in his match with Jack Sharkey."

"But the boxing commission insisted we would get a square deal, even though I had every confidence in the source of my information. So we went in and got robbed. And the referee I referred to two weeks ago was the referee in that ring last night, Gunboat Smith."

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

Six more withdrawals among program sponsors, two of them old timers, are slated for NBC after the end of the month.

The oldest to conclude network broadcasting is the "Mary and Bob" series which started on CBS in 1928 and moved to NBC about a year ago. "The Old Counselor," a WEAF feature for more than three years, also is to retire.

Two others, the "Three Bakers" and "The Stag Party," sign off WJZ. The remaining pair, "Sisters of the Skillet" and the B. A. Rolfe orchestra, lose their present sponsors but they have hopes of digging up new ones.

BERT LAHR, in preparation for his second Saturday night program in the WEAF-NBC dance hour, is working hard to build up the proper microphone technique. His opener indicated there is quite a difference between stage and radio humor.

President Le Brun and Premier Herriot of France and Frank Kellogg, former U. S. secretary of state, will be heard in a Fourth of July broadcast from Paris by WEAF-NBC.

THEATER Attractions

"STATE'S ATTORNEY", with John Barrymore and Helen Twelvetrees in the starring roles concludes its run today at the State.

The central figure of this absorbing tale, played by Barrymore, is a brilliant, carefree attorney who turns from defending the under-world to prosecuting it to further his own ambitions.

Miss Twelvetrees portrays a girl who stumbles into happiness through misfortune and wages a dramatic fight to hold it.

Both stars do excellent work in a story that is well directed.

William (Stage) Boyd, Jill Esmond, Mary Duncan and Ralph Ince carry supporting roles well.

COMING ATTRACTIONS show "The Roadhouse Murder" as the State's feature for Thursday only.

Reversing all conventional methods of plot development, this film with Eric Linden and Dorothy Jordan in the featured leads, gives a startling new treatment of the ever popular mystery theme.

The central characters, blunder upon a double murder in a desolate country roadhouse and discover the identity of the killers. This information is shared with the audience and there is never any mystery as to who actually committed the crime.

The film's amazing story complications result from the hero's weird plan of assuming the guilt for the murders and the element of suspense centers about the uncertainty of his fate. When the evidence that means the hero's safety disappears, the suspense reaches a tensity which never relaxes until the final fade-out.

Chase Ghouls From Racketeer's Grave

CHICAGO, June 22.—A band of ghouls apparently intent upon robbing the grave of George "Red" Barker, labor racketeer and public enemy recently slain by machine gunners, engaged in a pistol fight with caretaker Joseph Sobel, of Mount Carmel cemetery early today.

The ghouls escaped, but not until they had shot several holes in the caretaker's automobile, stopping pursuit.

Police advanced the theory that perhaps the intruders were seeking valuable papers or jewelry buried with the gangster. They pointed out that an automobile truck in which the men escaped could easily have been used to carry away Barker's casket.

The ghouls were bending over Barker's grave, when the caretaker approached. When Sobel asked them what they were doing they answered him with half a dozen shots. Sobel drew his own pistol and fired back at the hoodlums while he hid behind his truck.

BONDED DEBTS HIT $980,000,000

Political Units Mount From 188 Million In 21 Years

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—The total bonded indebtedness of Ohio counties, cities and villages, townships and school districts is $980,000,000. It is revealed in statistics compiled by F. L. Morrison of the department of rural economics at Ohio State university.

Morrison's figures are for December 31, 1930, and indicate that in 21 years the bonded indebtedness of these political units mounted from 188 millions. School districts account for the greatest increase, with a debt of 241 millions, which is 1300 per cent greater than in 1910.

County-contracted debts mounted from 27 millions to 170 millions, while the debts of cities and villages rose from 141 millions to 564 millions.

Township Debts Double

Township debts doubled, but even then only mounted to the relatively insignificant sum of $5,000,000.

Some Ohio counties have cut down the amount of bonded indebtedness since 1920. These counties are mostly rural, and the 12 most outstanding are Auglaize, Champaign, Coshocton, Defiance, Fayette, Hardin, Huron, Madison, Morgan, Paulding, Union and Williams.

The ten counties which had the smallest debt burden per $1,000 of taxable property 18 months ago, were Champaign, Coshocton, Fayette, Hardin, Harrison, Knox, Madison, Pickaway, Putnam and Vinton. These, too, are largely rural.

The ten with the greatest total debt burden, amounting to as much as $129 per $1,000 in taxable property, in 1930, were Cuyahoga, Franklin, Geauga, Hamilton, Lake, Lawrence, Lucas, Montgomery, Scioto and Summit. The public debt of one of these counties amounted to $385 per capita.

In the group of counties with small tax burdens 253 tax returns were made per 1,000 population, whereas in those counties with heavy tax burdens, the number of tax returns per 1,000 was 110.

Pay Off Interest

One-fifth of all local taxes and assessments collected in 1930 were used for payment of interest on the bonded indebtedness and in decreasing the net debt. This statement applies to all local government units lumped together. The percentage varied all the way from six to 53 per cent. The latter figure for Lawrence county.

Morrison accounts for the better financial position of rural counties by pointing out that a larger proportion of the population are property owners and hesitate for that reason to vote for bond issues.

RELIEF MEASURE FACES CONGRESS

Unemployment Bill Delays Plans Of Congress For Adjournment Until Middle Of Next Week

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Congress now expects to remain in session until the middle of next week. The expectation is based on the senate's deliberate slowing up in its consideration of the highly controversial unemployment relief bill, which is now the only major trouble spot on the congressional program. An agreement for a final vote today on the bill was sought, but even this was generally believed to be coming too late for adjournment by Saturday.

The house is to all intents twiddling thumbs until the senate catches up, but a decision last evening against staying in session on the relief bill registered a definite disinclination to quit this week.
